Lloyd George Pays Warm Tribute To Mr. Balfour

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 7.—Parliament opened today with the usual ceremonial. The King, in his speech, referred to the Washington Conference and said that while the four Power Pacific Treaty replaced the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, he was happy to feel that the long-standing Anglo-Japanese concord would remain as cordial as ever. At the same time Anglo-American relations would enter a new era and an even closer phase of friendship.

The Disarmament Treaty, the speech added, provided a large measure of relief from the burden of armaments. In all these respects great results had been attained by the success of the Conference for which the world owed a deep debt of gratitude to the initiative of the President of the United States. This would be the happiest augury for future international relations.

With regard to the estimates for the coming year, every effort would be made to reduce public expenditure as low as possible, consistent with the security and efficiency of the State, public obligations and the necessity of relieving citizens as far as possible from their heavy burdens.

Parliament would soon be invited to consider the measures necessary to give effect to the Irish Agreement. An indemnity bill would also be submitted.

LOOKS TO GENOA

With regard to unemployment the only remedy was the appeasement of international rivalries and suspicions and the improvement in trade conditions throughout the world. He trusted that the Genoa Conference would establish peace throughout Europe on a fair basis and would settle many important questions arising from the pressing need for financial and economic reconstruction.

The House of Commons was crowded at the opening of the new session. Moving the address to the Throne, Captain Hacking (Co-Unionist) said that the results of the Washington Conference were far more successful than the most sanguine had anticipated. The Pacific Treaty marked an epoch in the annals of the Empire. Captain Hacking paid a warm tribute to Mr. Balfour.

Captain Evans, seconding the motion, said that he trusted nothing would arise to frustrate or fritter away the momentous decisions of the Washington Conference.

Mr. Clynes said that the Washington Conference kept rather too closely to the arithmetic of instruments of war, but the Naval Agreement was a positive gain, especially if it could be viewed as the first step towards greater reduction of armaments and better relations among the naval Powers of the world.

WORLD MUST DISARM

He was entirely hopeless, however, of ever maintaining the peace of the world by any process of measuring the instruments of war and he hoped that the Washington Conference was only the beginning of conferences which would lead to a definite arrangement ending finally in the disarmament of the world for purposes of war.

Mr. Lloyd George said that the Washington Conference was one of the greatest achievements for peace in the history of the world and he also paid a tribute to Mr. Balfour. He emphasised that the Conference would save millions this year. He urged the necessity of giving France a guarantee, thus restoring her confidence and leading to calmness of judgment, which was vital to wise decisions.

Germany, he said, must be made to feel that a policy of revenge would not pay, while we were in honor bound by the guarantees given by President Wilson and Mr. Balfour at the Versailles Peace Conference.

Replying to Mr. Maclean, Mr. Lloyd George said that full opportunity for the discussion of any pact would be given. With

From Dock Laborer To S. S. Line President

The 15th anniversary of the Admiral Line, as a combination of the fleets of the historic Pacific Coast Steamship Company and the Pacific Alaska Navigation Company, was marked by receipt of congratulatory messages addressed to Hubbard F. Alexander, the president. Many of the messages recalled the fact that Mr. Alexander started as a dock laborer at the age of fourteen and today, at forty-two, directs the largest American merchant fleet in the Pacific Ocean. The Admiral Line was incorporated as the Pacific Steamship Company in October, 1916, and its house flag—four stars on a field of blue surrounding a crimson Maltese Cross—was first flown November 1 of the same year.

GANDHI'S PROPOSAL FOR TRUCE REJECTED

"No Government Could Even Discuss Such Terms," Reply

REASONS GIVEN

Mass Civil Disobedience Unacceptable To State

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 7.—The Indian Government has issued a statement with reference to Mr. Gandhi's offer declaring that his demands are such that no Government could even discuss them. Mass civil disobedience would be fraught with such danger to the State that it must be met with sternness and severity. The Government is confident that in taking measures for its suppression it can rely on the support of all law-abiding citizens.

Delhi, Feb. 7.—It was announced in the Legislative Assembly today that the Government was temporarily resuming transportation to the Andaman Islands as a consequence of the serious overcrowding of the gaols.

Calcutta, Feb. 7.—The revised death-roll of the loyalists in the Gorakpur riots is 22. The riot was directly due to Gandhiites picketing a loyal landowner's bazaar.

Municipal Employes In Berlin Continue Walkout; Government To Act

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Feb. 8.—The railway strike committee has called off the strike. The municipal employes have not yet decided whether to do likewise.

Berlin, Feb. 7.—On the conclusion of the negotiations between the Imperial Chancellor and the Minister of Finance with the representatives of the workers and the officials of the organisations, the latter accepted the Government's pledge to adjudicate immediately upon wages and other questions, as a suitable basis for calling off the strikes.

INDICATIONS POINT TO SPREAD OF SHIPPING STRIKE TO SHANGHAI

Unrest Engendered Here By Persistent Efforts Of Hongkong Sailors To Enlist Outside Aid; Unions Declared Outlaws By Crown Colony Government

The Hongkong shipping strike, far from approaching a settlement, gives serious indications of spreading all the way up the coast to Shanghai. In marine circles here there is a distinct feeling of uneasiness over the latest trend of developments.

This information, while not official, has been conveyed in messages the authenticity of which cannot be doubted. These messages carry a very strong impression that all the ports on the China coast, including Amoy, Swatow, Foochow and Shanghai will be directly and seriously affected.

Up to the present, Chinese seamen shipping out of this port, who obtained an increase of wages within the past year, have been satisfied with conditions, and shipping companies that have sought to recruit workers from Ningpo and other places have had little trouble in enlisting men.

So far as is known, none of the local companies has made any preparations for a strike here, and assurances are known to have been sent from Hongkong to the shipping offices here that the walkout had every appearance of being local to the Crown colony.

From other sources, however, the information has been conveyed that the tremendous efforts that have been made by the Hongkong labor organisations to induce their fellow workers in other ports to join them in the walkout have borne fruit. In private messages from Hongkong the word has come that promises of such support for the strikers have been received from Shanghai and other ports. Furthermore, it is known that the firm stand that has been taken by the Hongkong strikers has been inspired, in part, by the confident belief that the seamen in other cities along the coast would eventually join them in their demands for increases in pay.

FOUR BOATS TIED UP

In addition to the large number of coasters and river vessels now lying idle at Hongkong, four big passenger liners are being held there. These are the Monteagle and the Empress of Japan of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, Ltd., and the China and the Nile of the China Mail Steamship Company. A report that the Empress of Japan was to sail from Hongkong yesterday proved unfounded late in the day and the prospect now is that a fifth transpacific liner will be added to the others now held in the British port. This is the steamer Nanking, also of the China Mail, which sails from Shanghai for Hongkong today.

No effort is to be made here, according to China Mail officials, to replace the crew of Cantonese sailors on the Nanking before she leaves this port.

In addition to the ships named, the Empress of Russia, which has been in dry dock at Hongkong, undergoing her annual overhaul, is scheduled to sail from that port on February 22. Her departure also may be delayed.

Considerable cargo for Hongkong was offered to the Nanking, sailing today, but was not accepted because of the strike. The Nanking, which brought 44 first class passengers to Shanghai, will take 100 first and second class and about 250 steerage passengers to Hongkong.

CHEN'S STATEMENT

Concerning the political element that has been injected into the strike situation, Mr. Eugene Chen, representative here of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, has issued another statement in reply to the suggestion that has been made in press despatches that the Canton government should follow the example of the Hongkong authorities in proclaiming the seamens' union at Hongkong an unlawful society. What Mr. Chen has to say in this connection is as follows:

"I do not wish to touch on, far less to enter into, the merits or otherwise of the dispute. But in the interests of instructed opinion, I have to point out that President Sun Yat-sen's Government at Canton has been established in persuance of the government-making authority defined in the Provisional Constitution and that, as a creature of this instrument of government, it observes and must observe one of the great liberties granted to Chinese citizens by what is, at present, the sole organic law of China. I refer to article 6, sect. 4, of the Constitution, which lays it down that 'citizens shall have freedom of speech, of publication, of association.'

"Canton practises what it preaches. A striking series of

AMERICAN CLUB BUYS LAND FOR NEW HOME

Purchase Of Property In Foochow Road Is Authorised

The American Club, not quite five years old and yet showing a membership which would probably throw a double-ply jolt into the conceptions of a great many people hereabouts, has selected and passed upon a permanent site for its home.

At a meeting of members held last evening a resolution was put forward for the authorisation of purchase of a plot of land in the Central district on which to erect a modern and entirely up-to-date club building. The resolution was passed by the large showing of members without a sign of dissent.

The property to be taken over is situated on Foochow Road, between Honan and Kiangse Roads, and carries a ninety-foot frontage, with a depth of 145 feet. The area involved is above 13,000 square feet, on which it is planned to erect one of the most modern and best equipped clubs possible.

The following is the text of the resolution:

"Resolved: That the General Committee of the American Club be authorised to purchase a plot of land in the Central District of Shanghai, and to arrange a mortgage with any banks or individuals in order to finance and complete such purchase, and to issue debentures to the amount of Taels 250,000 at a rate of interest not to exceed 8 percent per annum, and upon such terms as to security, sinking fund, repayment and other conditions as the General Committee may decide."

Chang Tso-lin To Get Peace Terms

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 5.—After lengthy discussions with representatives of the Chihli Party General Chang Ching-huai left here by special train for Mukden yesterday morning 10 o'clock. It is reported that his mission was to convey to General Chang Tso-lin the terms on which an understanding between the rival parties might be reached. The Mukden conference, therefore, did not arrive at any decision yesterday regarding the Cabinet situation, and it is believed that the conference will be prolonged for several days. These developments will probably also prolong the conference at Paotingfu, which begins today.

Alice Brady's Romance Ends In Divorce Suit

RUMORS, persistent for weeks, of a crisis in the domestic life of Miss Alice Brady, actress and daughter of William A. Brady, theatrical manager and producer, found confirmation in a Supreme Court order revealing she had sued James L. Crane for a divorce. James L. Crane, who is the son of Dr. Frank Crane, editorial writer and publicist, is charged in the complaint with misconduct with a young woman last August. Miss Brady's marriage took place while her father was in Europe, news of it not becoming public until two days later. It was a romance of the movies, Miss Brady having met her husband while both were working in the same studio several months before. The marriage ceremony was performed by Dr. Crane, the bridegroom's father, in his home early in the evening of May 19, 1919.

To Enjoy Dinner Party You First Must Catchee He

By Elsie McCormick

Toward the rear of every little boy's heart, mixed up with his love for licorice root and his hatred of castor-oil, is the hope of someday being a discoverer. When he grows up, however, the most significant discovery he ever makes is that fallen hair, unlike fallen men, can never be uplifted or that overshoes make the feet burn if worn forgetfully indoors. He discovers, perhaps, that women always squeeze the top of a toothpaste tube instead of the bottom, that a man feels and looks foolish when sitting in an automobile that is being towed, and that most ink-eradicators remove the fabric as well as the ink. But his hopes to play Balboa or Christopher Columbus have as little chance to be realised as Sarah Bernhardt has to get a front-line position in the Follies. He can't even discover an island in a Thousand Islands dressing.

It is only in China that the average mature adult of more or less sedentary occupation can really enjoy the sensations of being a discoverer. When we speak of sedentary occupations, we are not referring especially to the household coolie, who spends most of his time preventing a chair from doing violence to passersby in the basement. Nor were we thinking of the amah who receives a salary every month for looking industrious and darning her husband's clothes. Our thoughts were fixed especially on the foreign population engaged in the Christophian pastime of trying to find a dinner party.

THE LONG SEARCH

Discovering a dinner party is one of the favorite occupations of the local social set. Those about to set out on such an expedition are advised to bring a compass, a sextant, a wireless apparatus, and a few horoscopes. It is usual to have the address, of course, though this item is of surprisingly little value. Christopher Columbus had several addresses in India, but that didn't prevent him from coming up for air on an American island. If it wasn't for certain chronological discrepancies, we would be inclined to believe that Christopher's pilot was a Shanghai chauffeur.

The first step in the discovery of a Shanghai dinner-party is to get instructions from your host as detailed as a patient's account of his latest operation. You carefully embalm these directions in your note-book, embellish them with a few freehand drawings, and then, on the evening of the party, relate them to your houseboy, with instructions to go outside and give a recitation to the chauffeur in the language of Li Po and the chop suey trade.

The boy goes outside obediently. From the room upstairs you catch the even flow of discourse and you feel sure that the chauffeur will recognise the corner with the tree on the west side as readily as if his family used to run a fruitstand there. How are you, who were never much good in linguistics, to know that they are discussing the high cost of mah-jongg sets and the effects of samshui on a happy New Year?

"WHAT SIDE GO?"

So earnest seems the conversation that the sombre truth entirely fails to dawn. You lean back in the car with the comfortable assurance that you'll be there in plenty of time for the anchovy sandwiches and their usual sidepartners. You even speculate a little as to whether the crowd is going to the Carlton or not afterwards, and if so, who will be stuck for the chits. Then, suddenly, after a long, purring ride, the hireling behind the steering-wheel turns around, shoves back the plate of glass, and inquires sweetly, "What side go?"

You come to with the start of a former convivialist in a dry country being revived by a whiff of brandy. "What thing?" you sputter, trying to see your watch. "My boy have talkee you what side go." "No have talkee what side," remarks the knight of the steering-wheel. "My boy have talkee you plenty long time," you reiterate. "No have talkee what side," says the gear-stripper complacently.

Smothering a burning wish that the Chinese Republic had not abolished execution by means of the Thousand Cuts, you peer into the street, as dark as a convention of black cats in a coal-cellar, and try to take a four-point bearing. Incidentally, we might remark that though the Chinese government has abolished the Thousand Cuts, foreigners still use it as a handy method for disposing of social climbers in an outport.

The rest of the voyage of discovery is a combination of sight-seeing tour, disposition destroyer, and a method of vocabulary extension. You strain your eyes for a street sign, enter a cul-de-sac where

CHINA NOW ON FIRM BASIS AS RESULT OF CONFERENCE, U. S. VIEW

Opinion Holds That Concessions Will Go Far Toward Stabilising Government; Balfour's Assertion That Chinese Must Now Work Out Destiny Endorsed

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Feb. 7.—American views on the final results of the disarmament conference vary according to individual prejudices, but all critics agree that China emerges from the parleys considerably better off than seemed likely a month ago. The pressure of public sentiment in the United States undoubtedly was a powerful factor in forcing concessions for China.

When it appeared that the Conference did not intend to take up China's case there were outbursts of criticism on all sides, with everybody asking the question whether the Washington conference was to be another Versailles, and if China was again to be sacrificed in the interests of harmony.

Today a different picture is presented. The renunciation of Group Five of the Twenty-one Demands by Japan, as well as wide concessions in Manchuria and Mongolia, are looked upon in Washington as having the greatest importance upon the preservation of world peace.

These things, in the official American view, go far toward placing China upon a far more stable basis than she occupied three months ago. Mr. Balfour struck a keynote when he said at the final session of the Conference that the Powers could go no further in working out China's problems, and that the future was essentially in the hands of the Chinese themselves.

Japan emerges from the Conference visibly strengthened in American opinion, as it is generally conceded that the spirit of reconciliation exhibited by the Japanese delegation contributed materially to the success of the Conference. All sides agree that Japan placed herself on record in such unequivical fashion that she will find it impossible to disregard the obligations she has assumed without inviting international obloquy.

The eyes of Americans are now turned toward the Senate, where the treaties must be ratified before they become binding. It is regarded as certain that they will be confirmed, although not without a hard fight over certain clauses.

CONFERENCE FAILS TO BRING PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Demand For Republic Emanated From Disgruntled Laborite

(Reuter's Service)

Pretoria, Feb. 7.—The conference between the Premier and the strikers' representatives ended today without any settlement being reached.

Johannesburg, Feb. 7.—The resolution demanding a republic emanated from the East Rand which is the storm center of the Reef and was moved by Mr. Waterston, the Laborite legislator who styles himself "Major-General," but his army is largely regarded as a laughing stock.

Enthusiasm among the so-called commandoes which are endeavoring to remove officials from the essential services is waning. The police have hitherto refrained from arresting the leaders.

Pretoria, Feb. 7.—When twenty members of Parliament and the Provincial Council met the deputation conveying the Johannesburg resolution in favor of a republic today, the Nationalist members repudiated a revolutionary movement, saying that their object was to secure a Republic by constitutional means.

Capetown, Feb. 7.—Mr. Boydell, the leader of the Parliamentary Laborites today repudiated the Waterston resolution and said that the Labor Party was pledged to maintain the Constitution. A Nationalist republic, he declared, would be a social and economic disaster.

Johannesburg, Feb. 7.—The conference between General Smuts, the Chamber of Mines and the workers' representatives has proved resultless.

A mass meeting held at the Town Hall today passed a resolution denouncing the republican movement.

U. S. Cable Service Again Interrupted

Announcement was issued by the Commercial Pacific Cable Company yesterday that cable service to America again is interrupted and that messages to the United States and Honolulu cannot be accepted for prompt delivery. The break in the cable occurred in the section between Midway Island and Honolulu and the company's cable ship has been engaged in making repairs for the past ten days.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 7.—President Harding hopes to send the treaties resulting from the Armament Conference to the Senate at the end of this week or the beginning of the next.

London, Feb. 8.—The advantages accruing to China from the Washington Conference were enumerated by Lord Curzon in the course of a speech in the House of Lords last night. He pointed out that at a time when nobody could contend that China presented a spectacle of strong government or of a united people, she had been admitted to the conference table on a par with the great World Powers. In addition to the retrocession of Kiaochow, Shantung and Weihaiwei, he believed that France intended to restore Kwangchowwan. China would perhaps not have got these and other advantages in half a century if the promises of old diplomacy had been pursued. It only remained to her now that this great opportunity had been afforded her to embrace the chance given to show that she was worthy of a destiny comparable with the great natural strength of her resources and the place numerically filled by her population in the eastern world.

London, Feb. 7.—Seconding the reply to the address in the House of Lords, Lord Crewe said he thought that what had been done at Washington regarding the spheres of influence in China was a result on which we ought to congratulate ourselves and everybody concerned.

Lord Curzon termed the Naval Treaty concluded at Washington a great achievement and paid a tribute to President Harding and Mr. Hughes. He referred to the final disappearance of all fear of aggression in the Pacific and emphasised the importance of the Pacific Treaty, pointing out that the continuance of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance set up a formidable barrier to friendship between America and Japan, just as it was indirectly a barrier to complete harmony between Britain and America. The barrier was now removed by the good sense and public spirit of all the parties concerned, and he complimented the Japanese delegation, who appeared to have conducted their case at Washington in unfailing good temper and with a good deal of sagacity and the sincere desire to arrive, by conciliation, at good results. The result was an agreement which ought to render war in the Pacific absolutely impossible in the future and make that great area of the world's surface pacific in reality as well as in name.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The Secretary of War has cancelled the orders for the new guns to replace those in the fortifications of the Philippine Islands as evidence of good faith in the carrying out of the new Treaty.

JAPANESE DIET DEBATING NEW ARMY MEASURES

Liberals Want Forces Cut In Half, But Militarists Oppose

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 7.—In the House of Representatives today, introducing the Government resolution for army reorganisation, Mr. Ooka, one of the leaders of the Seiyukai party, said that his object was not the reduction of military strength for national defence but reorganisation to promote economy and to lessen the heavy burden and enhance cultural enterprise, while consistent with Japan's prestige as a great Power and the heavy responsibility of maintaining peace in East Asia.

Mr. Inukai, leader of the Kokuminto Opposition Party, introduced a resolution cutting the infantry divisions by half and also reducing conscription service from the present two years to one year while doubling the soldiers' pay, which would result in a net annual saving of about 35,000,000 yen. He advocated the amelioration of the harshness of the present barrack life which would remove the present aversion to military service and thus enhance morale.

The leader of the Kenseikai Party spoke in favor of retrenchment, though not of such a radical nature as that suggested by the Kokuminto leader.

The resolutions were referred to a committee.

Lieut.-General Yamanashi, the Minister of War, objected to the proposals on technical grounds but indicated his willingness to discuss the problem frankly.

Nile Is Taken Off Its Southern Run

Announcement has been received at the Shanghai office of the China Mail that the company's steamer Nile has been withdrawn from the Hongkong-Singapore-Batavia service in which it has been engaged since it was taken off the run from San Francisco to the Far East. The Nile, it is reported, is to be replaced in the southern service by another vessel.

What service the Nile will be placed in has not yet been disclosed. Together with the China it is being held at Hongkong by the strike there of seamen and cargo carriers.

Alien Law In Canada Valid

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—The Supreme Court has upheld the validity of the British Columbia Statute prohibiting the employment of Japanese or Chinese on Crown lands and on provisional public works. French Military Bill Approved

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 7.—The Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies has approved the new Military Service Bill after hearing M. The Government would do its utmost to ensure that the military estimates for 1923 should not exceed those for 1922.

you can't turn around and demolish several garbage cans while backing out, find a likely-looking street-corner, travel for a few minutes in a circle while trying to pick the right turning, and discover that Shanghai numerical artists considered 87 the proper sequence for 38. You ride restlessly around a Chinese policeman as he stands on his little traffic regulating island and you learn from his answers that he knows the local streets nearly as well as he does the poetry of Baudelaire. Throughout the trip of exploration, you continue to repeat directions into the amply capacious but peculiarly lifeless ear of the attending chauffeur.

DIFFICULTIES OF TRAIL

"Try turning up Avenue Foch," you say.

"Can do Avenue Joffre," he replies.

"No, no, I talkee you Avenue Foch," you excoriate.

"My savee Avenue Joffre," says the motor expert, pointing the prow of his vehicle in an appropriate direction. You reach through the sliding glass, gather up a handful of his uniform, and detach him temporarily from the steering-gear. Then the search for possible cul-de-sacs and invariably scrambled numbers begins again, with a sadder but wiser man at the wheel.

There are several possible endings to the adventure. Sometimes you return home, kill the houseboy, and get new directions by telephone, eventually arriving in time for the demitasse. Sometimes, by a miracle, you find the place. An unexpected turn, an arc-light, and an inspiration have been known to do the trick. At first it seems too wonderful to be true. We understand that Balbos got somewhat of a kick while standing silent upon a peak of Dairen, but we wager it can't compare with the warm thrill of achievement you experience when you walk into a stonily silent, hungry and cocktailless group and realise that you have discovered your dinner-party.

ARMED ROBBERS SENT TO ARSENAL TO BE EXECUTED

Four of the armed robber gang which killed a bamboo shop proprietor's son and wounded another man at 740 Dixwell Road on January 23 were ordered sent to the Arsenal to be shot by Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Loh of the Mixed Court yesterday. One of the quartette also participated in a robbery on Yalu Road some time ago when another man was killed. A fifth man, arrested with the others but found not to have been involved in the robbery, was discharged.

The men were arrested by Detective Inspector Cruickshank and Chinese detectives in a tea shop on Woosung Road the day following the robbery and the Court took occasion to warmly commend the Inspector and his assistants.

The robbery in Dixwell Road occurred on a date when the hong had drawn a considerable sum of money for transmission up country. Seven men engaged in the raid and when one of the shop assistants lashed upstairs and gave the alarm they fired a fusillade of shots, one of the bullets striking the son of the proprietor in the head. Another bullet plowed a furrow in the scalp of one of the shroffs. The robbers fled without having obtained the money.

Ricsha Coolie Who Victimised Seaman Gets Month In Jail

A ricsha coolie who trotted away with 40 yards of silk pongee and two boxes of cigars belonging to an American named Gunber of the steamer West Kader last Saturday appeared yesterday in the Mixed Court for retribution, the same taking the form of a month's sentence.

The victim, who has since sailed, had gone ashore to make a number of purchases, which he had conveyed back to the waterfront in the ricsha. While he was placing part of the parcels in a sampan the coolie left. Fortunately the seafarer remembered the number of the ricsha and reported the matter to the police. The coolie was arrested in Frenchtown Tuesday and a search of his lodgings revealed the missing goods. The coolie had evidently sampled the cigars, one box having been opened.

Kweichow Province Suffers From Militarists' Folly

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 5.—The following telegrams, received from various parts of Kweichow Province within the past few days, have been handed to the International Anti-Opium Association by the International Famine Relief Committee for the information of the Association:

"Condition serious. Food prices have risen four hundred percent compared with normal rates. We fear a serious lack of food throughout the whole province. The military authorities insisted on the planting of opium in order to receive the revenue. Crops were uprooted and poppy planted. The area of poppy cultivation is less than last year, but it is still very large.

"Famine conditions prevail in most districts. The Kweichow Missions are distributing available relief. Reports received from all parts say that robbers and opium cultivation are alone responsible for the present conditions.

"Available funds are inadequate to relieve deserving classes. Neither flood nor hail here, but semi-famine conditions prevail owing to the ravages of locusts and widespread poppy planting.

"Great Autumn food shortage has been caused by the cultivation of opium reaped last April, drought and brigands, not floods. Present opium crop triflingly smaller. Rice is now eight cents per catty and the outlook is bad. Foreign oversight in relief work is essential."

The International Anti-Opium Association points out that these telegrams give confirmation of opium cultivation in Kweichow from a larger area than those published in December, 1921.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES

Peking, Feb. 5.—In a telegram to the Central Government, the Tuchun of Heilungkiang General Wu Ching-shan states that a number of Russian refugees from the recent fighting in Amur Province have crossed into Chinese territory. He adds that orders have been given to the local authorities to disarm these men.

resolute reforms and salient acts proves it.

"While we are not mere doctrinaires or fanatic legalists at Canton, we do not feel tempted to follow 'the example of the Hongkong Government' in the direction suggested by the Hongkong Daily Press. We would rather profit by the significant lessons to be drawn from the struggles of labor abroad, particularly in Britain. And we remember that we live in a world in which values are so changed that the assertion of mere force solves nothing ultimately."

Hongkong, Feb. 8.—A Government Gazette Extraordinary issued this afternoon contains an order prohibiting the exportation of coal, rice and flour from the Colony to any destination. Permission to export these materials may, however, be given in suitable cases.

Hongkong, Feb. 8.—On the advice of the Executive Council, the Governor has proclaimed three Chinese labor guilds as unlawful societies.

The Governor has expressed, through the United States Consul-General, the Government's warm appreciation of the valuable assistance which American citizens are rendering in the present emergency.

A public meeting of Chinese, at which between 300 and 400 persons were present, today held a prolonged discussion on the strike situation. A representative of the seamen protested against negotiations in view of the Government's closing the Union and arresting its officials.

The meeting decided to appoint a committee composed of members of various representative Chinese societies, including the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, whose function will be to mediate between the seamen and the shipowners.

Blood Poisoning
Yet Another Grand Recovery

Our Portrait is of Mr. WILLIAM HARBORNE, of 6, Railway Road, Perry Bar, Birmingham, England, who writes:

"About two years ago I met with rather a bad accident. My arm was cut severely, and I had to have it stitched at the hospital. This caused me six weeks' absence from work, and after resuming my duties for one week I broke out all over my body with huge Boils. Again I went to the Hospital, and was treated for Blood Poisoning; this happened on three successive occasions, until I began to think I should never be cured. Then I gave Clarke's Blood Mixture a trial, and the first bottle or two seemed to be driving out the poison, so I persevered, and after taking ten bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I left off taking your Clarke's Blood Mixture, and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

Chinese Company S.V.C. Has Its Annual Meeting

The annual meeting and prize giving of the Chinese Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps was held last night at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce on North Honan Road, when the awards were made to the various winners of prizes during the past year and speeches were given by Chinese and foreign heads of the organisations interested.

The meeting constituted the fourteenth annual distribution of service certificates and the completion of the fourteenth year of the efficiency of the Chinese Company.

The preliminary speech was made by Mr. Yuen Hung-kee and was as follows:

"Sixteen years ago, the misgovernment of the Manchus set us thinking of the dangers of not having a means of self-protection in the event of political and kindred disturbances, and as a result, the Chinese Volunteer Association was established near the Shanghai Nanking Railway North Station. The members were there trained for two years and afterwards were bodily incorporated into the S. V. C. That was the origin of the Chinese Company, S. V. C.

WAS ORIGINAL STAND

"At that time, people were not so enlightened as they now are, and great was the opposition roused in all quarters, for such a development was then a breach of traditions. It was fortunate that the members were not carried away by the popular tide, but stuck nobly to their undertaking with a determination greatly to be respected.

"The Chinese Co. was then very much like a school-boy newly admitted and whatever its natural capabilities may be, it required the best instruction and training to bring them out. And here I would, on behalf of the Company, thank the past and present Commandants and Headquarters Staff of the Corps and the past and present officers of the Co. of whom Capt. Grayrigge especially, for the kindly help and interest and untiring training given to the Co. during the 15 years of its existence.

HAS FINE RECORD

"The result of that help and training is more formidable than I can find words to describe. The Co. has now a most commendable record to show, while in its ranks are to be found numerous men of unusual capabilities. Take for instance Lts. T. A. Zee and B. Y. Woo. They have risen from the rank and file step by step during a period of 15 years and after that very long service, they are today as keen and energetic as on the day they first joined the Company. Such remarkable perseverance commends our greatest respect.

"In the way of shooting, the Company has a group of men whose excellent achievements are the subject of universal praise.

"Such very splendid work adds very much to our national glory, and in this day of ours when the only way to salvation lies in our ability of self-protection, our members should double their energies from now on even to excel their present excellence, whereby to show our true appreciation of the great trust that our fellowmen have put in us."

MR. NIEH SPEAKS

C. C. Nieh, President of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce spoke as follows:

"As honorary president of your Association I have been impressed and gratified with the rapid progress of your company during recent years and I wish to offer a few words of advice on this occasion.

"Your company was first formed as a purely Chinese company and after with the Municipal authorities it entered the International Corps and its entry marked the first Chinese participation in the International activities in the International Settlements.

"The men in your company have worked with energy and its achievements have given the foreign and Chinese communities satisfaction and gained admiration. This shows the capacity of our people as well as international co-operation. I am in hopes that with the company as a model we Chinese may have an opportunity of participating in all the public institutions in the Settlement. My first hope is therefore that you will continue in your energetic spirit towards this responsibility.

"It is generally believed that in volunteer service the Swiss system is one of the best, in that the Government expends little outlay and gains the benefit of an armed force in emergency. In order to build up the foundation of a volunteer force it is necessary to have a large body of trained merchants and businessmen. Although there are volunteer corps in different cities in China, they have been insignificantly organised. My second hope is that you will exert an influence over other corps in the country and help to solve the difficulty of disbanding troops. My last hope is that in your business the training that you gain in the company will well befit you in your occupation and assist to reap results and advantages."

MEMORIAL FOR THOSE WHO DIED UNVEILLED HERE

Yesterday evening Sir Everard Fraser, the British Consul-General, in the presence of the Allied representatives and the members of the Shanghai Club unveiled the memorial that has been erected in the Club to commemorate the passing of the thirty-seven members who fell in the Great War.

The ceremony was a solemn one, the hall being filled to its utmost capacity. After Sir Everard had unveiled the memorial two buglars from one of the British warships sounded the Last Post, a two-minutes' silence was then observed, and the Reveille sounded.

The Consuls-General of all the Allied countries were present at the unveiling ceremony.

Mr. A. J. Welch, vice-president of the Club, said the gathering was called to pay reverence and homage to the memories of those of their late comrades who gave their lives for their countrymen in the Great War. His part of the ceremony should have been performed by their worthy chairman, Mr. R. Macdonald. Unfortunately when the memorial was unpacked it was found that some important parts were broken and the necessary replacement could not be effected prior to his departure. So the Committee decided that this should be an informal function and he was very pleased to see among those present representatives of very nearly all the Allied nations. Sir Everard Fraser had kindly consented to perform the unveiling ceremony, and he was better fitted to express their feelings.

SIR EVERARD SPEAKS

Sir Everard, in addressing the members of the Club, said he felt honored at the invitation of their committee to unveil the memorial which the Club had erected to commemorate those of the members who died in the Great War. It was not an occasion for speeches. They could best show their admiration and respect for those who made the great sacrifice by a short interval of silence and meditation on the glory the fallen had won. He should have said respect. Their late members would not like them to mourn. When the call came they found themselves ready to lay aside their lives and serve their country. This memorial would in days to come keep green the worthy memories of these good men and true. It would also, he thought, serve as a token in the days to come when members of the Shanghai Club could show their faith in the cause of righting principle—that cause for which they died and, dying, gave to us gifts richer than any gold.

LIST OF HONOR

He then unveiled the memorial, which is inscribed with the following names:

S. G. Berry, L. Bourgeat, J. A. Brand, A. C. Brooke-Webb, B. D. Bruce, W. J. C. Budd, C. Bussy, A. Cohen, C. C. Cunningham, A. F. Deane, F. Defries, W. H. Dunt, P. E. Delaunay, J. C. E. Dougias, R. Frelupt, L. Le Hane, K. Haraman, L. E. P. Jones, C. C. I. Kirk, P. Lambe, B S. Laurence, W. J. Leete, T. M. Macqueen, H. McGhee, H. S. Oppe, G. Picard-Destelan, H. Picard-Destelan, C. Rabier, T. C. Read, W. E. Reiss, F. Richardson, G. U. Robins, G. G. Samuel, S. R. Sebastian, E. J. S. Tanner, and R. T. De La Tour.

The design of the memorial is a very attractive one, having been executed by Messrs. Grahame-Browne and Wingrove of Shanghai. The models, carving and casting were done by the Italian art decorator Raoul Bigazzi of Florence.

The best materials have gone into the making of the memorial: the purest bronze, Carrara marble of different grades—Breccia, yellow of Siena and Portovenere. The whole is very imposing, simple and austere in style and the architects who designed it are to be congratulated on their work.

Parliament Open, Policy Outlined

regard to the Labour complaints concerning unemployment the Prime Minister pointed out that the Government was spending over £100,000,000 yearly for relief.

PREMIER ON DEBTS

Mr. Lloyd George declared that Great Britain was quite willing to discuss the adjustment of war debts if all the creditor and debtor nations came in, but she could not forego them when there were such heavy claims against her. The Geddes report would be laid before the House of Commons at the end of the week. The Government had not felt justified in following some parts of it but it was prepared to adopt the suggestions involving very drastic cuts in expenditure.

Definite proposals regarding Egypt, the Prime Minister proceeded, would be announced after the discussions with Lord Allenby. The Government was willing to meet all the Egyptian people's legitimate aspirations and to abandon the protectorate upon the fundamental conditions of safeguarding Imperial communications, etc.

A Bill would be introduced immediately, giving the Irish Provisional Government the authority at present invested in the Imperial Government. This was most urgent in order to enable the Provisional Government to deal with problems like the unemployment question. It might then be found desirable to seek the opinion of the electors of Ireland on the Treaty. Mr. Lloyd George emphasised that the unsuccesful meeting between Mr. Collins and Sir James Craig was only the second one and that patience was required. The boundaries question could only arise after the constitution had been incorporated in an Act of Parliament. The Prime Minister concluded by stating that legislation carrying the treaty into effect would be submitted in due course.

Replying to a question, Mr. Lloyd George said that the Government proposed, pending the United States' suspension of the Austrian loan, to advance to Austria, upon good security, over £2,000,000 of the £10,000,000 voted for Central Europe.

(China Press Service)

London, Feb. 6.—Premier Lloyd George, speaking before Parliament said:

"Our purposes (those of France and England) are alike, but our methods may not always agree. That is where discussion comes in. You have to give France the feeling that she is not isolated and that she is not left alone. Give confidence and you give calmness. You must make Germany feel that a policy of revenge will not only bring in France, but bring in other nations as well."

VIVIANI DEFENDS FRENCH POLICIES; SEES CONSPIRACY

Says Nation Does Not Intend To Use Army To Force Payments

BY RENE VIVIANI
Special To The Ledger and The China Press

Paris, Feb. 6.—M. Rene Viviani, former French cabinet member, made the following statement:

"This is a period of false news, misunderstandings, disseminated from one side of the Atlantic to the other with jealous care. France is as much as accused, and although the news is of a nature intended to hurt her, France, as in the past, remains calm and stoical.

"It would have been of no importance if there was not a deep reason for these misunderstandings which certain persons so often try to envenom. There is no doubt that a conspiracy exists to pry France from her allied associates and to corrupt the affection which is justly given to our country. Because we are obligated to pursue the payment of reparations in the name of justice and in our own interests, we appear to rouse the world's envy.

"The day does not pass without their denouncement of us as fomenters of disorder, future aggressors, impending imperialists. The task of being paid is left to us. We will do it without appealing to force, feeling that whatever happens there is still enough disinterestedness left in the world and enough honest people to bring about finally an understanding of the real situation.

"We will do it with difficulty, but are not going to be indecisive after being ruined. We will continue the pacific policy which they will see has no imperialistic design nor desire for conquest, but we are obliged to make ourselves respected and forced to do it alone."

A Judicious Inquiry

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult and if for a child, they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it and for colds, croup and whooping cough it is unsurpassed.

AEROS IN BRITAIN

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 7.—Mr. F. E. Guest, Secretary of State for Air, presiding at the Imperial Air Conference at the Guildhall, said that the prospect of the commercial success of aviation in Europe could not be realised for many years, but the outlook from an imperial point of view, was very bright. They must concentrate their efforts, he said, on distances which could not be bridged except by air, such as the England to India route.

JAPANESE BASEBALL NINE FROM OSAKA IS BIDDING FOR SERIES IN SHANGHAI

Mainichi Team Claiming To Be Better Than Diamonds Wants Early Date

If Shanghai baseball players could get the game going here earlier than has been customary they might begin right now to sign up teams that are already bidding for games with the local team.

First we had a bid from the All-Hawaiian Chinese nine, which planned to visit Manila during February, Japan during the first half of March, and then hoped for a series in Shanghai, and North China.

Now comes another, maybe a more attractive bid from Japan with an offer to bring here for a 10-game series early this spring one of the strongest teams that Japan ever had, one that is rated by their press agent, as far superior to the Diamond nine which represented Japan here in the Olympic and Open Games at Hongkew Park last spring.

The Japanese nine is labelled the "Osaka Mainichi." It represents, and is supposed to be composed of employes of the Japanese newspaper of that name. The Shanghai correspondent of the paper has written Manager Gallop of the Shanghai club asking for the dates.

The Mainichi nine is a good one. It toured North China and Manchuria last year and came through on the winning side after several series with the best Japanese and foreign teams up north. The team is composed solidly of ex-college players.

It is to be regretted that Shanghai cannot get into practice before the middle of April, and cannot possibly stage a series before the middle of May, due to the restrictions prevailing at the baseball grounds which preclude the erection of the grandstands until after the running of the Spring Meeting of the Shanghai Race Club, May 1, 2, 3, and 6.

It would be impossible to stage the series until the grand stands were up, for the local club would have to stand for travelling expenses of the Japanese team, 15 in number between Osaka and Shanghai, and defray their expenses while here, so gate receipts would be essential.

It may be, however, that the Mainichi nine and possibly the Hawaiian team may be booked up for series in late May or June. Gallop is writing the Japanese explaining the situation.

LOCAL JOCKEYS AND OWNERS GO TO H'KONG MEET

Shanghai jockeys and owners sail on Saturday and next Wednesday for the big winter race meet at Hongkong. The twenty-five Shanghai ponies entered for the meet were shipped sometime ago and are now working out daily at the Hongkong track.

Mr. Gussie White, Mr. Eric Moller and Mr. Frank Vida will sail on Saturday. Mr. Vida will ride for Sir Paul Chater. Sir Paul, who keeps his stable here, has entered Hope Dahlia, Honesty Dahlia, Empire Dahlia, Sportsman Dahlia and several griffins for the meet. Empire Dahlia is said to have a good chance to place first or second in the Champions. Mr. C. R. Burkill will also ride for Sir Paul.

Mr. Billy Hill will ride for the Potts and Hayim stable. Mr. Potts is already at Hongkong with Fighting King, Mighty King and two unnamed griffins, and Mr. Hayim plans to sail within a few days. Fighting King was second in the Champions at Hongkong last year and is expected to win the big race this year. Mighty King is also picked as a possible Champions winner.

Mr. Hill, Mr. Burkill, Mr. Jack Bauld and Mr. Knoll will sail next Wednesday, according to present plans. Mr. Knoll has entered Ajax and Sir Colin and will ride both ponies. Some Shanghai race followers give Ajax a chance to cop the Champions. Mr. Bauld will ride for the Sassoon stables.

Mr. M. O. Springfield is already at Hongkong with the Stephen and Stitt stable. With the exception of Benz all the ponies are griffins getting their first taste of racing in the Hongkong meet. The Ewo stable of griffins will also get its first try out in the coming meet.

Basketball Scoring Has Too Many Fouls

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 11.—Basketball is being killed by calling too many fouls, in the opinion of Dr. Edgar Fauver, head of the Wesleyan University athletic department and president of the Society of Physical Directors in Colleges. In order to put new life into basketball, he says, there should be a new scoring system which would make it impossible for a team to win on points scored on fouls alone.

BEARCATS PLAY A DOUBLEHEADER TONIGHT AT "Y"

The Bearcats, the undefeated leaders of the Shanghai Foreign Basketball league must feel lucky, since they got well over their 13th league game: they have finally consented to play an outside match, and that, as the second half of a doubleheader.

Many outside teams have tried to get the Bearcats into a friendly game since they stepped out so strong in the League play and acquired the rating as the best team in Shanghai, but always the wary Cats have declined. It was thought that they were not inclined to risk their perfect score outside the league. But now—they must feel lucky.

The Bearcats doubleheader tonight will have for its first part a league match against the Y.M.C.A. team, which went to pieces once and has been gathered together again with different newer parts, and for the second half a friendly affair with the Chinese students team from the Shanghai Baptist college. Both games are to be played at the "Y," the first commencing at 8, and the second at 9.

The Chinese team from Yangtszepoo is a strong one. It is composed of the older students, young men who play the game for all it is worth—a team which may be classed with the East China five, which went through its schedule last year undefeated and so far this season has never tasted defeat. The Bearcats will have to go some to beat them, but feeling lucky as they do it should be a safe bet that they win.

FEARON PLAY COLLEGE

The second league game tonight will be played at the Haskel gymnasium at Yangtszepoo, between the Fearon Daniel five and the faculty of the College.

Chess Club Moves To New Quarters

The International Chess Club will remove to its new quarters at The Trocadoro, 14 Astor Road on the 15th inst. when a short lecture on "Chess Fundamentals" will be delivered by Mr. G. O. Jackson, to be followed by a demonstration of simultaneous play by Mr. M. Diamant. The lecture will commence at 6 p.m. An invitation is issued to those interested in chess, and also the public in general to attend.

Jack Dempsey Is Looking For Really Worthy Foe

Champion Says Wills Has Been Eliminated By Showing Against Tate

BY JACK DEMSPEY

MY theatrical tour is nearly over and it won't be long before I'll be looking around for somebody that I can bust on the nose.

Who will it be? Just now there seems to be quite a debate as to the identity of my next foeman. I got all "steamed up" not so long ago over the idea that my next battle was going to be staged against Jess Willard. I was already visioning how I was going to plunk that bird again and silence all future comment that my original victory over him might have been a fluke.

Jack Dempsey

A lot of people figure that in taking on Willard again, I was picking something soft. It's true that I whipped him about as decisively as I ever whipped anyone in my life. But one never must lose sight of the fact that if I had not drilled home that body punch in the first round, it might have taken me a whole lot longer than three full rounds to finish the big fellow.

However, from what I read in the papers, Jess isn't going to fight me, so I'll just mark him off my list. They tell me he struck it rich in oil.

WILLS ELIMINATES SELF

There is still some talk about my meeting Harry Wills. But the talk is not coming from promoters. I haven't seen any promoters knocking each other down in their efforts to tie me up to a contract to fight the negro. They probably feel that there isn't a tremendous amount of interest in a match between Wills and myself.

Wills stood out conspicuously in the opinion of some folks until a few weeks ago, when Bill Tate stood him off rather easily for ten or twelve rounds. The failure of Wills to put away Bill would seem to kick Harry right off of the pedestal where so many people have placed him, because Bill, after all is said and done, has little more than size to recommend him.

Bill served me long and faithfully as a sparring partner, but big as he was, and powerful as he was, I always had to be careful not to rip anything into his body. He didn't like them there. Occasionally I would forget myself and unleash one for the head or chin and when it landed, Bill didn't show any disposition to stay upon his feet. I always regarded Bill as a faithful sparring partner, but one of the softest things I ever knew to knock overboard.

If Wills was unable to put away Bill—what's the answer?

READY TO BOX GIBBONS

Sure, I'll fight Tom Gibbons any time that Tommy is ready. That Irish boy has been coming along in great shape. It's true that no real tough ones are numbered among his many knockout victims, but it is a commendable feat to knock over nineteen men in a row, as Gibbons has done.

Bill Brennan used to drop in upon me every so often when I was in Atlantic City and insist that he wanted another chance. I told Bill that he would get it. I figured that we might put on another battle this Winter, but I hear that Bill has been training on cream puffs and Danish pastry, is about thirty pounds overweight, has become mighty lazy and has decided that he would rather be a member of the idle rich than do a lot of work.

That's too bad. I was sort of figuring on beating up Bill again, just to convince Bill that no matter how good he is, I am a little bit better. But I don't want to pick on a fellow out of condition.

Beyond Wills, Gibbons and Brennan, who is there that the public thinks would give me a real battle

PORTER AND JOHNSON, TWO BILLIARD FINALISTS, ARE BEATEN IN CLUB MATCH PLAY

Bush And Campos Take Revenge For Defeats In Semi-Final Round

Messrs. C. W. Porter, present amateur billiard champion of Shanghai, and R. C. K. Johnson considered by many to be even a better billiardist than Porter, and both finalists for this season's honors, were decisively beaten last night in the interclub match between the Cercle Sportif and the Lusitano Club. Porter was defeated 300-181 by Mr. E. D. Bush, while Johnson lost 300-165 to Mr. J. P. de Campos.

By coincidence Porter opposed Bush in the semi-finals for this season's trophy, and Johnson opposed de Campos. The former won, with a brave rally in the last few shots, after Bush had him all but beaten, 800-793, and Johnson beat de Campos 800-738.

While billiard fans were surprised at the outcome of Porter's and Johnson's matches last night, little significance is attached to the scores, for the two winners were playing on their own tables, perhaps in perfect form, while the champion and his challenger were undoubtedly off their best game.

Three pairs of the inter-club match were played last night at the Lusitano Club. The odd one was won by Mr. J. M. C. Lopez 300-212 over Mr. Fenton. The two remaining pairs of the match will be played tonight and tomorrow at the same club, Capt. E. I. M. Barrett opposing Mr. G. M. P. Remedios tonight, and Mr. Martin meeting Mr. A. F. Gomes tomorrow.

The Lusitano Club so far in the match stands 342 points up on the French club.

Players of the Lusitano club are confident after last night's play of winning the Interclub Billiard League cup again this year. They have yet to play the Engineers and the Customs, but are confident of running out successfully. The Club, at present outright holder of the cup, has led the league five times in the last six years.

Wrestle By Rounds Latest Innovation

Chicago, Jan. 13.—A world's championship wrestling match which will be decided by rounds instead of by falls alone will be held here soon, Johnny Meyers, middleweight champion, and John Kilonis last night posting forfeits for the contest on a date yet to be named.

The match will be held here under the new White rules, which call for 15-minute rounds with a referee's decision.

French Senate Bill Authorises Relief For Banque

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 7.—The Senate Finance Committee's bill authorises the French Government to negotiate, in accord with the Chinese Government, a credit operation destined to safeguard the material and moral interests of France by the use of France's share of the Boxer Indemnity—an operation which is intended to refloat the Banque Industrielle de Chine.

With regard to the decision to await a statement by M. Poincare, it was said that in any case it was necessary to know the exact position of the bank, its liabilities and the character and category of the depositors and the exact amount of the Boxer Indemnity.

Chinese Envoy To Soviet Conference Takes Bearish View

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 2.—In a speech at the third session of the Congress of the Toiling Classes of the Far Eastern Nations, Mr. Li Keng, the Chinese representative, said:

"China is a country with the thickest population in the whole world. Her statistics show four hundred million inhabitants. In the last century began the economic oppression of China, which is increasing in proportion to the growth of power of European states in China. At the present time the number of Chinese proletarians might be estimated at two hundred million living in a deplorable condition."

Hoover Advises Against Rate Cuts

(China Press Service)

Washington, Feb. 7.—Secretary Hoover, speaking today on the railway freight tariff situation, said that any considerable reduction in rates now was impossible, although until the rates are reduced and the railroads are enabled to increase expenditures, the economic machine will move but slowly. Operating costs including wages must be reduced before any slash in rates can be contemplated.

Asia Banking Corporation

February 8, 1922.

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ¼d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 65⅝ cents, and the London-New York cross rate improved to 434⅞.

At the opening this morning the only change in the official quotations from yesterday was a rise in the Gold Dollar rate to 73¼.

The market, however, was weak from the opening, there being no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-4⅛ for February, 3-3¾ for March and 3-3½ for April. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at between 72½ and 72⅝ for February, 72 for March and 71½ for April.

As there were no sellers at anywhere near the official quotations, the official Sterling rate therefore dropped to 3-4, the Gold Dollar rate to 72⅛, and the other rates changed in proportion.

After the drop in rates, the market remained easy, and closed with sellers of Sterling at 3-4 for February, 3-3⅛ for March and 3-3½ for April. Gold Dollar sellers at the close were offering 72⅝ for February and 72 for March.

China sold silver in London again yesterday, and the market there is reported as being without buyers. The same condition prevails in the New York market.

American Toy Trade For 1921 Totals $100,000,000

(Foreign Press Service)

New York, January 15.—Over a hundred million dollars has been expended for toys by the people of the United States even in this year of economies, 1921. The factory value of toys manufactured in the United States, says the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, more than trebled when the war cut them off from that former chief source of American toy imports, Germany, and the value of the "toys and games" turned out by American factories in 1919, the latest census year, is officially stated at $46,000,000 against $14,000,000 in the preceding census year 1914. Meantime the imports of toys which fell from $8,000,000 in the year prior to the war to a little more than $1,000,000 in the year of its close, quickly advanced to $6,000,000 in 1920 and $10,000,000 in 1921, so that the imports of toys in the fiscal year 1921 were actually greater in value than in any year preceding the war.

While this unexpectedly prompt inflow of toys from foreign countries has somewhat reduced the out-turn of the toy factories of the United States in the current year, the fact that the capital engaged in the industry advanced from over $10,000,000 in 1914 to probably $25,000,000 in 1919 in which year the number of employes exceeded 10,000, suggests that the outturn of American factories in 1920-21, plus that of the doll factories which are not included in the group entitled "toys and games;" plus the importation in 1921 of $10,000,000 worth of dolls and toys from abroad, with an aggregate factory valuation of considerably over $50,000,000, must have cost the "ultimate purchaser" fully $100,000,000 in 1921, despite the tendency toward economies which has characterised trade conditions during the year.

In one particular line of the toy industry and trade, the holiday season finds a distinct shortage, namely that of dolls. The number of doll factories in the United States greatly increased following the opening of the war, upon the assumption that the absence of the supply formerly drawn from Germany would greatly intensify the demands of the home market; but with the close of the war and the prospect of big imports from Germany and other countries of Europe as well as from Japan which had developed a considerable toy trade during the war, many of the doll factories in the United States closed down, while the expected increase in importation of dolls did not materialise as rapidly as had been anticipated, and as a consequence the holiday trade finds an extreme shortage in this particular class of goods, developing an actual "famine" in dolls despite the fact that the children of the United States are "crying for them."

The happenings of the war period above referred to, the shortage in toy supplies turned out in Europe and the big increase in those from American factories, has resulted in a large growth in American toy exports meantime, which advanced from three-quarters of a million dollars in the year immediately preceding the war to over $4,000,000 in the calendar year 1920, and today the children of over fifty countries and colonies of the world are hugging American dolls, while the exports of other classes of American toys in 1920 were distributed to nearly one hundred countries and colonies as against approximately half that number in the year preceding the war.

POLITICS IN CHICAGO

(China Press Service)

Chicago Feb. 6.—Seven officials and ex-officials of Chicago have been indicted and charged with violation of the Civil Service Law by selling subscriptions to a political newspaper backed by the city administration and tickets to a picnic given by political factions headed by Mayor Thompson. They are alleged to have threatened loss of jobs unless the employes subscribed or bought tickets.

The Chinese Political Stage

BY JOSEF W. HALL

SOMETIMES I think I shall change the name of this running review of Chinese political events to "Circus" instead of "Stage." There are so many interesting little side-shows.

One has been in progress at Tsinanfu, Shantung, where the Provincial Assembly has been in convention for more than a month, and is rapidly coming to the end of its legislative term, but has not yet accomplished the preliminary business of choosing a chairman. The one consistent policy of all Shantung Provincial Assemblies convened during the past several years has been to oppose their provincial governors. And one is not inclined to blame them. But as far as the people of Shantung are concerned it is a question of the devil and the deep sea.

The Commercial Guilds and Chamber of Commerce are more powerful in Shantung than in other provinces. They already had the skids under Tuchun Tien Chung-yu when Wu Pei-fu, believing him a worth-while acquisition to the Chihli party, paid a visit to Shantung (his native province) and made it possible for him to retain his office, getting in return his allegiance. About that time the Provincial Assembly met. A Tsinan merchant got to the new legislators first, and apparently with a campaign fund that would make Senator Newberry look like a piker. Tuchun Tien had an opposition candidate for the Chairmanship, but this man found himself outbid. He was, of course, able to secure enough supporters to raise an uproar in the house every time the issue came to a vote, and give an excuse to his soldiers to enter and disperse the Assembly in order to prevent assault and battery of members upon one another. The students championed the cause of the anti-Tuchun candidate, and under the sufferance of the police who apparently do not side with the Tuchun, held fiery demonstrations.

Such is government by representation in wild and woolly Shantung.

Old General Chiang Kwei-ti died the other day, just past the age of eighty. His last words were an imprecation against the perfidy of Chang Tso-lin and his last letter—addressed to President Hsu—a plea for his unpaid and suffering troops who have been compelled to pass the northern winter largely in the open field. Chiang had commanded troops of the Empire and Republic for sixty years. He fought the border wars of the late emperors of the Manchu Dynasty, and his exploits against the nomad Mongol tribes made him a border hero. His army, originally recruited from Chihli, and called the "Yi Chun," a term somewhat corresponding to our "Rangers," became, in the second generation, a unique force, born to the hardships of the northern frontier and reared in the camp.

The "Yi Chun" today is composed of men of an average age of forty years, together with their sons, even to the third generation, all uncompromisingly loyal to the principles of their veteran commander. The "Yi Chun's" defeat at the hands of the Japanese in 1894, when General Chiang and his staff members were scarcely prevented from killing themselves, was a tragedy of Chinese valor beaten only by superior mechanical equipment.

General Chiang, on his death-bed, called the attention of the President to the fact that he, a man who had faithfully served every government established in Peking for sixty years, was now, by the acquiescence of that very government, turned out of responsibility by one of the bandits against whom he had at one time fought; and that the army which had so faithfully protected Peking from the barbarians were freezing and starving outside of Peking while the once-bandit forces enjoyed the best that the city has to give.

The very cause of Chiang's downfall was that, while his army was fighting the invading Mongols north of Jehol, Chang Tso-lin, professing to send reinforcements instead took possession of his headquarters, Jehol, and catching him between his own perfidious troops and the enemy, forced him to retire, and his men to withdraw homeless and provisionless, into the wastes north of Peking. And yet Chang Tso-lin drew three million dollars in cash from Peking for fighting the Mongols! Chang Kwei-ti's men, who really saved Kalgan and Peking from their advance, got not so much as their rations.

There are some things which even perfidy and money cannot accomplish. The Mukden lord planned eventually to assimilate the homeless veterans, numbering about 20,000, into his own forces. A most valuable addition they would make to any army. Although suffering in every way and dying by the scores from tuberculosis and other causes, they have refused every overture. Officers and men have taken oath never to serve the man who was traitor to their old General. It looks as if Tsao Kun were going to get them.

Cleverness and intrigue have their limitations. Control by terrorism is always temporary. As recently as last spring Chang Tso-lin was seriously threatened by the defection of his own relatives, the Tuchuns of Kirin and Heilungchiang and a faction in his own palace in Mukden favoring them. Only by an immense effort was Chang able again to get on top of his own men. Pao Kwei-ching of Kirin he got rid of, and lesser men he executed.

Now once again is he seriously threatened. Chang Hwai-ching, his trusty brother of bandit days, whom he placed in command of large forces at Peking and Kalgan, and upon whom depends his power south of the wall and in national affairs, is openly disaffected. Encouraging him in defection are Pao Kwei-ching, now here as Minister of War, and sympathising with him are Chin Hua and Wang Nai-bin. Chang Tso-lin's proteges and trusted agents at the capital.

It is even now a question of speculation whether or not these men would support Chang Tso-lin in event of a military break with the Chihli faction. They refuse to support his Liang Cabinet. The Mukden "Tiger," before whose popular epithet has been placed, during the last few days, the word "paper" (in allusion to the paper animals burned at funerals) is eating humble pie. It's not all roses—being a super-tuchun!

The recurrent Mohammedan unrest in Kansu, caused by the delay of Peking to appoint a Tuchun acceptable to the Moslem population (the present Tuchun, a Kiangsu man of the Chihli party, Liu Hung-tao, is only "acting," and the Moslems have sworn to prevent his "substantive" appointment to their last drop of blood) serves as cumulative evidence that the ungrudging appointment of Moslem officials by the Chinese government is the only alternative to a practically independent caliphate on the Upper Yangtsze.

My Own Report :-: No. 8

By Jabin Hsu

(Mr. Hsu attended the Washington Disarmament Conference as staff correspondent of THE CHINA PRESS and THE EVENING STAR. He was also a special correspondent for the New York Herald, the Baltimore Sun and the San Francisco Chronicle. In this series of articles being written by him since his return from the United States, he gives to readers the first record of a Chinese journalist's close hand impressions of the world confab and draws some interesting conclusions.)

ABSTRACTING the grave issues and idealistic aspirations of the conference, we could almost speak enthusiastically about the Washington gathering. Amusing scenes and incidents were numerous and the 'covering' of the different angles itself was tremendous fun. After giving some of my personal impression of the "heavy end" of the parley, I may be permitted in my last installment of the present series to enumerate in a rambling way some impressions on the light side of the historical event.

Attending the conversations with President Harding, Secretary of States Hughes and the various delegations at their headquarters reminds me of the three pleasant years I spent at the University of Michigan. We trooped from one classroom to another rather bewildered as to what all the professor said was about. Each room had its own atmosphere and different type of spokesman.

Every Monday and Thursday, America's Chief Executive received the correspondents in the White House. A very impressive gentleman, excellently groomed and witty, he "kids" the writers along in the most intimate manner. Few foreign correspondents ever ask any questions, because the conferences mostly dealt with American home politics. It is diplomacy that no foreign minister should interfere with the domestic affairs of a nation to which he is sent, so it is bad taste for the foreign writer to mix himself up with American politics.

Every morning at 10:30 and every afternoon at 3 the correspondents crowded to the reception of Secretary Hughes. Questions were fired at "Mister Secretary" and answer snapped back in much the same way as Bill Pott and W. P. Roberts bang their tennis ball out at Jessfield.

CHINESE "SHY"

The Chinese delegates were a bit "shy" of the conference arrangement at first. They were hard to approach. The handful of Chinese newspapermen were the first ones to raise a cry. The delegates suggested the stationing of some clerk at the new Navy Building to answer questions. This did not satisfy us. Another demand was made. Then they yielded, holding three conferences a week with the journalists of the world. The result was excellent. All the three principal delegates, sophisticated in American ways as they were, proved to be very splendid propagandists as well as diplomats. The slothful writer could always rely upon a good China yarn if he was hard pressed for "copy."

We "took life easy" with the British delegation. The spokesman was generally introduced to the crowd by the British liaison officer, Lord Riddell, who by the way, was one of the most interesting characters at the conference. After the usual exchange of greetings, the gentlemen of the press seated themselves round a table with the spokesman at its head. Each British spokesman, like Lord Riddell, liked to give play to an abundance of wit and humor. Some of the sparks are good enough for the Keith Circuit vaudeville and I know for certain that much of the humor provoked is being utilised for that purpose.

Speaking of wit, an oriental visitor was once asked what was the difference between the League of Nations and the Association of Nations, which President Harding desired the Conference to inaugurate. The answer was that the League was democractic and the Association will be Republican. There is a great deal to this thought.

JAPANESE FORMALITY

At the Japanese conference table, the reporters were greeted with elaborate courtesy. Some secretary shook one's hand warmly before one sat down and made inquiries after one's family's health. Prince Tokugawa one evening even made an investigation of my family tree. Admiral Baron Kato was the only delegate who interviewed us in Japanese. He delivered about a "stick" of words and his interpreter, a university professor, translated them into excellent English.

The German traits of the Japanese delegation were widely commented upon. Not only in military organisation, exemplified by her naval and military experts, but in many other ways, the Nipponese have copied the Germans. Bowing from the hip, clicking the heels in handshaking, rigid caste distinction among themselves and insistence on formalities were some of the noticeable manifestations.

Corks are always bobbing in the stream of Conference gossip. There was the eternal questions of how we Chinese differed from our cousins across the Yellow Sea. The average Washingtonian has a great time in distinguishing them. Consequently queer breaks occur. At the Garden Party given by Secretary and Mrs. Hughes at the beautiful Pan-American Building, an American society lady chirped up merrily to inquire of one of the Chinese delegates whether he had left Mrs. ——— in Yokohama. Confusion and embarrassment were the results when the mix-up was finally apparent.

POST PRANDIAL CRAZE

And the Conference was held during the public dinner season throughout the speech-loving United States, judging from the invitations which were pouring into the headquarters of the delegations and journalists from the four corners of the Republic. So many were the invitations that one of the delightfully humorous current writers in Washington suggested the calling of a conference on the limitation of after-dinner speeches. However, Washington certainly had a splendid list of after-dinner artists during the past season. The British delegation naturally headed the list. Dr. Alfred Sze and Dr. Wellington Koo had both managed to win oratorical contests in their college days, while Dr. Wang Chung-hui used to deliver lengthy legal opinions in various languages. Of course, we must also mention that about 80 percent of the Chinese delegation, about 140 strong, spoke English and were more or less post-prandial stars in the American sense.

Senator Schanzer, ranking delegate from Italy, is an effective speaker both in English and French. Jonkheer H. A. van Karnebeck, head of the Dutch contingent is another master of language. Portugal's chief plenipotentiary, Viscount d'Alte, retains a distinctive Oxford accent, although I never had a chance to find out what sort of college education had produced the effect. The Japanese had an army of propagandists in New York as well as in Washington who were willing and ready to speak to any audience and pay their own railway fare. Few others could afford to be so generous.

"LIKE COMMON FOLKS".

The big celebrities behaved just like ordinary folks when they were out of the Conference halls. When the camera lenses were turned on the entrance of Continental Memorial Hall, Premier Briand was observed to give himself a deprecatory pat. Lord Lee tried to look natural in his monocle and say to the camera man: "Oh! My Word!" Mr. Hughes gave a blank but broad smile and looked as innocent as a Sunday school teacher. Dr. Sze speaks to the camera artist as if he was performing for a "movie" magnate, while Admiral Baron Kato wears the signified expression which he never loses and which he maintained even when he received the news of the assassination of Premier Hara.

Diplomacy at Washington was not open. But it was no longer mysterious or picturesque as it

(A study by Coleman and Reitze, New York)

A review of the silver situation during the past year may reveal more actual international history than even that of the conference at Washington. It will show that only three countries, the United States, China and India, have made any effort to maintain a sound credit position. That the countries of Europe continued the policy of driving out sound money and substituting additional products of the printing presses. It will also show that Great Britain achieved the remarkable feat of placing its new dependencies, mandatories, etc.—secured under the benevolence of the League of Nations—on a paper-money basis.

World silver production was around 148,000,000 ounces, the lowest in 30 years. World consumption was about 356,000,000 ounces. The difference between production and consumption represents the destruction of sound money and the use of paper currency as a substitute.

This process has also resulted in the depletion of the gold reserves of many countries, because paper-money is still as impractical for international usage as it has been, especially during and since the world war.

Coinage for the past seven years amounts to more than 1,700,000,000 ounces, and production is about 600,000,000 ounces less.

More than 700,000,000 people in China and India striving for an industrial era and anxious to do business with the country best able to supply its needs—the United States of America—have been compelled in the past year to conduct a large part of their import business in terms of sterling exchange and with gold.

But both countries have continued their traditional policy of absorbing nearly 200,000,000 ounces of silver yearly or much in excess of total world production during the past seven years.

This is apparently the reason why "panics" in those countries are of comparatively small significance and that China and India are likely to be the strongest, financially and commercially, during the next few years.

Operation of the Pittman law in the United States has tended to maintain silver at a higher price than it would probably have reached without this assistance and the country now has a larger reserve for sound credits than it did at the beginning of this year.

SILVER MOVEMENTS

Silver movements for the year amounted to about 85,000,000 ounces from U. S. and about 66,500,000 ounces from Great Britain. Movements in and out of India and China were much larger last year than in 1920, but these statistics are not available at this time. Japan also drew down a large amount of silver from America. Exports from Great Britain and America were only about 3,000,000 ounces less than in 1920, the former country having handled a much larger amount this year. In values, however, the difference is much greater.

Of our exports, Asiatic countries received about 53,000,000 ounces, Great Britain about 18,200,000 ounces, and the balance of about 13,800,000 ounces was distributed among other countries, of which nearly 4,000,000 ounces went to Mexico in the form of coinage.

Of Great Britain's exports, more than 53,000,000 ounces went to China and India.

Of this imports into America, about 94,000,000 ounces, more than 60,000,000 ounces came from Mexico. Of nearly 10,000,000 ounces credited to Germany, all but 1,000,000 ounces represents silver consigned as collateral and not sold.

Of Britain's imports, £9,956,837 actual for 11 months, or about 55,000,000 ounces, £3,094,052 represents receipts from America, £2,046,088 from West Africa, £1,669, 105 from France and £1,222,311 from Holland.

The West African item is interesting. There is no silver production in West Africa and this group includes former German possessions. It is likely that German silver marks have been imported and that the same countries have received paper-money and some silver coins 500 rather than 900 fine, in exchange.

Britain's imports from America are double in value and triple in volume as compared with those of 1920. Imports from France are not equal to those of the previous year, but they are still a large part of the total. Consignments from Holland are understood to represent silver from Germany.

Production for 1921 is smaller because of the decline in output of America and Australia and, to a much more modified extent, by Mexico. Although purchases of domestic silver under the Pittman law will amount to around 58,600,000 ounces, production will be less than 40,000,000 ounces. This decrease is chiefly due to the curtailed operations of the copper companies. These companies, in 1920, contributed 25 percent of the total silver output of America, or about 16,050,000 ounces. This year this output will be about 5,500,000 ounces. Silver ores produced by silver companies amounted to 16,050,000 ounces in 1920 and should be as large if not larger for 1921. About 21,400,000 ounces of silver is produced as a by-product in lead and complex ores.

The difference of about 18,600,000 between purchases by the American government and domestic production is supposed to represent delayed realisation by copper, lead and other mining companies and also a smaller amount held as speculative account. The Government will, no doubt, explain this discrepancy later on.

Production of Mexico, the largest source of silver production, is estimated by us at 62,000,000 ounces, or 4,662,253 ounces less than in 1920.

Output of Australia is again likely to be around the low figures of 1920. It was less than 1,500,000 ounces in 1920, compared with 7,430,770 in 1919.

Canadian production is likely to be around 10,000,000 ounces, compared with 13,330,357 ounces in 1920.

That production held in America even at the lower volume was due chiefly to larger operations in the new and old camps of Nevada. For the same seasons we many expect a continuance of this record this year, especially at Tonopah, Cortez, Divide and Candelaria.

DEVELOPMENTS LIKELY

In attempting to determine future trend in the silver situation, it is well to remember that silver is both a commodity and a monetary medium. Sensational developments are likely at any time and especially if any effort is made to approach stability in Europe. This is equally true of gold.

These facts should also be borne in mind: that world production is constantly decreasing and consumption increasing. That a considerable amount of silver coinage has disappeared in the past several years, and that even debased silver coin, if authorised, would produce a shortage so acute that silver prices would inevitably advance to the 15-to-1 or 16-to-1 ratio. At present the world price is about 31½-to-1.

Japan has about 303,000,000 yen in paper notes outstanding and has found that it is rather difficult to do business with this kind of money, especially in China. Against this issue its silver requirements are around 180,000,000 ounces.

The United States government is still in the domestic market for 121,000,000 ounces at the fixed price of $1 an ounce, net. It would only retire as a buyer, if and when silver sells above this price. Just what Europe may do in 1922 in trying to create a currency medium that will possess less elasticity remains in great doubt at this time.

It is known that British representatives approached the Washington administration on two or three occasions during the past year for the purpose of ascertaining its attitude on a proposal to partially remonetise silver. This included the Goshen plan.

Silver holdings by the principal banks of Europe, exclusive of Russia, at the end of the year were about $9,000,000 larger than at the end of 1920. The "gains" were by France, Germany, Belgium and Denmark and the "decreases" by Italy, Holland, Switzerland and Sweden.

It was reported that the Russian Soviet government had coined silver rubles during the year but the statistics are not available. Japan also followed the same policy and it was understood that the Bank of France had been adding to its silver reserves for the purpose of inaugurating silver coinage early in 1922.

Merican producers have been concerned during the past year with a proposal to stabilise silver prices by pooling sales and in securing government sanction for a "fixed price." More than two-thirds of total yearly output is by America and Mexico. The achievement of a "fixed price" in both countries would carry potential possibilities.

Silver stocks at Shanghai at the end of the year amounted to about 28,000,000 ounces in sycee, 23,000,000 dollars and 1,000 bars, compared with 46,200,000 ounces in sycee, 39,000,000 dollars and 550 bars on May 19, the largest holdings of the year.

Note circulation in India is 17,236 lakhs of rupees against 16,021 at the end of 1920. Silver coin and bullion is 7,729 lakhs, compared with 5,903 in the previous year.

Probably the most important developments during this year—aside from the indicated sensational factors outlined above—will be those in our foreign trade, especially with the Far East.

The entire overseas business trend in Asia appears to have changed. The cotton mills of England are idle while the new ones of Japan are operating at complete capacity. The Far East does not need manufactured products to the extent that it did before the war, but it does need steel and iron and machinery and America can supply these.

In the past year the Far Eastern countries shipped more than $75,000,000 in gold to America to pay for their imports because silver had depreciated too much to permit this.

For the next five years at least these countries should be large buyers in our markets.

To make this positive, higher silver prices are necessary.

If America is unmindful of these essentials, it is reassuring to realise that the great industrial interests of England—other than bankers—are not.

High silver prices are more requisite to the cotton industry of England than they are to the foreign trade of the United States.

We closed 1921 at the end of a seven-year period of excessive consumption and decreased production. Whether 1922 is to be the sensational year that many silver experts anticipate remains to be seen, but if the world is to return to "credit sanity" it must be first reflected in this apparently inevitable re-enhancement of silver values.

once was. The costumes of gold and embroidery, trappings and jewels were generally replaced by conventional garments of somber black and standard cut. Save the occasional glittering of the gold braid of a naval expert and the flash from the frock or hat of a senatorial dowager, the sessions were almost colorless. In its bleakness, in its business aspects, it was much more like a meeting of a board of directors of a business corporation.

However, we must not overlook that touch of color that decorated the British curve of the green horseshoe in Continental Memorial Hall, the Hindu delegate. The Right Honorable V. S. Srinivasi Sastri occupied a seat in the notable assemblage between Mr. Balfour and Lord Lee. He was perhaps the most picturesque person outside of Uncle Joe Cannon in the Congressional gallery. The Hindu statesman, considered by the British as a real prop of the empire, always formed the center of optical attraction on the floor. He wore a white silk turban and moved about gracefully amid the drabness of the group. One looked upon the facial expression of the dark-skinned statesman and believed that the teeming millions of India were already emancipated. Judging from the important air that Sastri carries.

IMPOSING DOWAGERS

Equally imposing was the conclave of dowagers in the galleries of the Conference hall. Here seats were reserved for the members of the American Congress. But most of the members sent their wives to represent them and the wives made a colorful display of furs and silks to break up the monotony down below.

CHINKIANG WILL BUILD ROAD TO RELIEVE FAMINE

Grand Canal Also To Be Dredged; Committees Formed

(China Press Correspondence)

Chinkiang, Feb. 6.—At the request of the Shanghai International Famine Relief Committee, the leading Chinese and foreign businessmen and missionaries met today to organise a local famine relief committee. Mr. C. C. Marriot was elected foreign chairman, General Yang was elected Chinese chairman. Secretaries and treasurers and various committees were elected.

A proposition was made to dig the mud out of the Grand Canal from the entrance of the Canal at Chinkiang to Tantuchen about seven miles in length, and repair the road from South Gate to West Gate making a good road along the canal. This road would be about two miles in length and connect with the Malu at New West Gate.

The canal has two entrances here and it was proposed to fill one of the entrances as it has not been used for a long time and is not navigable except in extreme high water. The canal filled would make a fine broad street through a very busy part of the city and connect with the Chinkiang Bund. Some other local road work was approved along with this proposition.

It was also agreed to build an automobile road from Chinkiang to Tangsui, the famous hot spring, fifty li this side of Nanking, connecting with the road, leading from Nanking to Tangsui making a complete auto road from Chinkiang to Nanking. All of these projects can be begun at once if the Famine Relief Committee in Shanghai can grant sufficient funds.

The Chinkiang Chamber of Commerce brought forward a proposition to build a road along the river front from the River Side Railway station to Consular Bluff and dig a canal so that the railway would be easily accessible at all times by small launches and Chinese boats. This would be a very expensive proposition but the local business men said they were willing to furnish a large proportion of the money if the project be held feasible. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and report to the next meeting.

The Chinese were very enthusiastic over the prospect of giving this relief and making these public improvements and are going to do all they can to help administer any funds that may be available. The amount of labor available for these improvements is large for there is great suffering in the nearby districts. If these projects are begun a multitude of these refugees will come for work, more laborers than could be used.

Chinese In Cuba Peeved With Hsu

The Chinese Residents' Association of Cuba, representing 60,000 Chinese citizens, by its President Mr. Louc Yat-chiu, has issued the following open telegram copy of which reached Shanghai today:

"Hsu Shih-chang has been selling our country without his conscience striking him, and we Chinese abroad are indeed angry. He is therefore a traitor.

"We hope you Chinese people at home will arise and drive out this robber. We will support you by raising funds."

ANGLO--FRENCH PACT SHELVED TEMPORARILY

British Diplomacy Concerned With Near East Problems

(China Press Service)

London, Feb. 6.—The proposed Anglo-French pact whereon the success of the Genoa conference so largely depends will be virtually shelved by Great Britain within the next fortnight in an effort to arrange an agreement with France and Italy over the Near East.

The British fear renewal of warfare between the Kemalists and Greece because of the moral effect on restive India. Now England and France are as far apart as ever on the Near Eastern question.

'Evidently, the French are convinced that the British are seeking to make a Greek peace, which England denies. Temporarily, the British interest is concentrated on the Near East rather than on Genoa, and if that is not settled, Britain may desire the postponement of the conference.
